Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendment and arguments of August 13, 2010 have been entered.
2. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 1, 3-5, 8, 9, 14-16, 22, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over O'Connell in view of Nielsen.

O'Connell discloses a fire extinguishing system including a source of fire extinguishant fluid, a nozzle body 100 having a wall defining an interior cavity, and at least one extinguishant outlet 107 (see the embodiment of Fig. 21) formed in the wall for discharging extinguishant fluid from the cavity into a fluid-filled volume (a room for example), which outlet is fixed in use, and wherein at least a portion of each outlet is inclined to extend non-radially with respect to the central axis of the cavity. Nielsen teaches a fire extinguishing system comprising outlets 29 that are fixed in use and the arrangement of the outlet being such that a rotational movement of fluid is induced to distribute the fluid homogeneously to the surroundings in which rotational movement includes both radial and tangential forces. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the device of O'Connell by providing a means to produce rotational movement of the extinguishant as has been taught by Nielsen to distribute the fluid homogeneously to the volume.

Art Unit: 3752

Regarding claim 5, the inner opening of outlet nozzle 107 is the portion of outlet 107 communicating with the cavity and is aligned with an axis of symmetry of the cavity but the distal outer portion (the outlet portion) does not intersect that axis of symmetry.

Regarding claim 17, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art that the device would normally be placed in a room and as such the combination of the device and the room would read on the claim language of claim 17.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
